Mum, Mum, you're not going to believe what happened to me today!

What happened, Emma? You look very happy!

That's because they finally picked me to play football!

That's excellent news! And, how are you? Are you happy?

Well... you know, my friends sometimes don't know what's wrong with me.

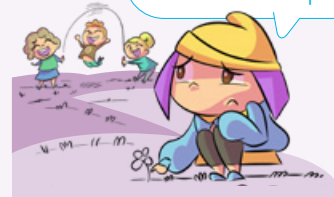

And others even believe that what I have is contagious.

Some of them still think I'll have a seizure if I push myself too hard.

A lot of times my friends from school don't want to play with me, but...

Today a new girl came to class and picked me to play!

Nora not only explained to them what epilepsy is...

But she told them that I can play and gave me all of her support

I'm so happy your friends took some time to try and understand you, honey.

Yeah! I'm sure everything is going to be fine from now on!

Let's play!
